Fresh 'Hell': DUCHOVNY'S new album is out there

The actor-author adds music to his list

David Duchovny released his first novel in February, his new NBC TV series Aquarius premieres in May, and Fox is reviving his '90s hit The X-Files.

About the only thing he doesn't have in the works is an album. Oh, wait. He does. On May 12, Duchovny will release his first album, Hell or Highwater, on ThinkSoy Records. It contains 12 songs written by Duchovny. He's backed by a group of musicians who perform separately under the name Weather and give his songs a '90s-rock feel in the vein of The Wallflowers and the Gin Blossoms.

Duchovny says he began playing guitar several years ago. "I bought an expensive guitar, because I knew I was too cheap to not play it." After a while, he began sitting in with Los Angeles singer-songwriter Keaton Simons and writing his own songs.

The album's title track and first single is a love song that harbors no romantic illusions. Duchovny sings, "I said I'd love you forever, come hell or high water/Baby, the flood's in." It's available for digital download.

The final song, Passively Madison Avenue, was inspired by seeing Bob Dylan's ad for Chrysler that premiered during the Super Bowl. The song plays like a direct message to Dylan — Duchovny sings, "Only you could write the song that could get to you." Duchovny says he used his feelings about Dylan as a symbol of integrity as a starting point to grapple with his own issues about selling out. "My nightmare would be that Bob hears the song and is insulted and cares to respond," he says. "Because I lose."

David Duchovny's Hell or Highwater is out May 12.

Duchovny plans to appear with the band but hasn't booked a tour.

"I'm lucky enough to be able to book some really great TV spots and get exposure that a normal new artist, which is what I guess I am in this field, wouldn't be able to get," he says.

"I'm learning what it's like to sing with a live band, how close to be to the mic, learning about singing, period," he says. "I hope that I get to discover certain things before the audience does, so it's not too painful."

The new run of X-Files episodes will begin shooting in June in Vancouver, Duchovny says, so he'll have about a month after the album's release to play any shows, if there's a demand for them.

He says he knows nothing about the story arc for the mini-series.

"All I know is I've been trying to make (series creator) Chris Carter use my music," he says. "I never could do that before."

When government officials make decisions, they must let their citizens know. That's why the state requires them to publish their actions through public notice in newspapers.
But some politicians would prefer to bury public notice in little news, rarely visited government websites - even their own websites.
If it is not in the newspaper, you won't know about it.
