USA TODAY

Star Wars is in an Empire state of mind.

The nefarious galactic government that gave us Darth Vader, a couple of Death Stars and a horde of marching AT-ATs in George Lucas' original movie trilogy returns in the new animated series Star Wars Rebels.

The cartoon kicks off with a one-hour Disney Channel premiere special Friday (9 p.m. ET/PT), then begins its first season Oct. 13 on Disney XD.

Rebels takes place before the events of the original 1977 Star Wars movie and focuses on the nascent Rebel Alliance — namely, the crew of the starship Ghost, led by the Jedi-trained Kanan (voiced by Freddie Prinze Jr.).

The good guys are cool and all, but "people are just glad the Empire's back," says Dave Filoni, one of Rebels' executive producers along with Simon Kinberg and Greg Weisman.

As seen in Lucas' final prequel, 2005's Revenge of the Sith, the Empire rose and had a decade of military expansion. For many, the initial public perception is the Empire is a good thing that brings stability and safety.

The Emperor, however, is building his first Death Star in secret during Rebels' as he consolidates power; the Outer Rim of the galaxy is oppressed by Imperial forces, and Vader and his minions are charged with wiping out any remaining Jedi.

As part of a new generation of Star Wars projects, Rebels will tie in with future stories, including next year's Episode VII movie. Yet it also reflects the franchise's past. It shares many aspects of the first Star Wars trilogy, from TIE Fighters and Star Destroyers to Stormtroopers who can't shoot straight.

The introduction of the Jedi-hunting Inquisitor (Jason Isaacs) showcases a ruthless throwback to the calm villainy of Vader.

What makes him really creepy is "everybody he encounters is so far beneath his skill level that it doesn't tax him," the actor says. "I wanted him to enjoy the chase and enjoy the hunt. He can take on any number of adversaries and still have time to read the newspaper and get his nails done."

TV star
Stephen
Collins faces molestation investigation

From staff and wire reports

New York police say they have an open investigation into allegations that veteran TV actor Stephen Collins molested a teenage girl in the early 1970s.

Police spokesman Stephen David says the complaint was filed in 2012 and accused Collins of forcing a then-14-year-old girl to commit a lewd act in 1972.

David says the case remains open, but no charges have been filed.

TMZ reported Tuesday that Collins, 67, discussed the incident in a therapy session with his estranged wife, Faye Grant. Grant also included allegations that her husband admitted the molestation in documents filed in their divorce case last year.

Stephen Collins

In the wake of developments, cable television networks, including UP TV, said Tuesday they would not broadcast reruns of Collins' series 7th Heaven.

Collins' lawyer Mark Vincent Kaplan did not return phone messages seeking comment Tuesday.

TMZ reported that Collins had resigned a leadership post with the SAG-AFTRA actor's union, and Entertainment Weekly reported he had been fired from the movie Ted 2.

NOTICES

LEGAL NOTICE

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF COOK COUNTY, ILLINOIS

GERALD S. KAUFMAN, et al. v. NANETTE APPEL-BLOOM, et al., Case No. 12 CH 30537

NOTICE OF CLASS ACTION TO ALL HOLDERS OF INTERESTS IN THE TERMINAL COMMERCE BUILDING OF PHILADELPHIA

This is a Notice of a legal action that may affect your interest. Please read it carefully.

Gerald S. Kaufman ("Kaufman") and Gerald S. Kaufman Corporation ("Kaufman Corporation") have instituted this legal action seeking information and authority to deviate from provisions of the 1959 Terminal Commerce Building Agreement (the "1959 Agreement") which establishes the Trust for ownership of the Terminal Commerce Building of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania (the "Trust Property"). Kaufman and Kaufman Corporation (collectively the "Trust") are successors and assignees of the original 1959 trustees (referred to as "Nominees" in the 1959 Agreement), and Kaufman Corporation holds title to the Trust Property. The Trust Property is subject to a leasehold that has been in place since 1959, which now has a remaining term of approximately 45 years.

The provisions in issue preclude the Trustee from re-mortgaging or selling the Trust Property without the written approval of all of the more than 600 Beneficiaries of the Trust, who are the original Tenants-in-Common under the 1959 Agreement or their successors and assignees. As asserted in the lawsuit, it is a practical impossibility to obtain the written approval of all Beneficiaries today, since they reside in numerous different states and foreign countries and a number of them are now of an age at which they can no longer practically decide to give and effectively give written approval, and a number have moved without providing current addresses. However, as asserted in the lawsuit, the mortgage on the Trust Property is in default and carries a default interest rate of 14.05%, exposing all Beneficiaries to potential loss of the Trust Property through foreclosure and erosion of equity in the Trust Property, unless information and authority to deviate are granted.

The Court has determined that the lawsuit may proceed as a class action for a class of all Beneficiaries, and that the named representatives, Alan S. Jacobs and Anthony V. Barbieri, may fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class, including your interest, if you are a member of the class. Visit www.TerminalCommerceBuildingReformationLitigationSite.com for additional information concerning the facts, issues and representation of the class which must be exercised by no later than November 10, 2014. Hearing will be held before the Honorable Franklin U. Valdermans in Courtroom 2305 Richard J. Daley Center, 30 West Washington Street, Chicago, Illinois on December 16, 2014 at 2:00 p.m. Pursuant to Order dated September 26, 2014.
