Overview

For more than 20 years, Ripple Effects has been a leader in online mental health and behavior interventions for students, staff, and parents. Our SEL programs are unique because their built-in expert system uses a learner's natural selection pattern to deliver the most relevant evidence-based strategies and a menu of effective instructional modes to each learner every time. This learner-centered approach accounts for our success with diverse populations across diverse settings. By personalizing the social-emotional learning experience and keeping it learner-center, not educator-center, we empower students to find agency and build confidence. This enables its effective use for all three tiers of intervention – at the same or lower cost than one-size-fits-all programs.
