Overview

At Eedi, our mission is to help every child build the skills and confidence to succeed in math, and help close the math achievement gap in schools and districts near and far.

Founded in 2015, by a teacher, a data scientist and an entrepreneur, we set out to create high-quality math diagnostic multiple choice questions to help teachers and students all around the world identify, understand, and resolve key misconceptions.

These same questions have been used by over 160,000 teachers in over 19,000 schools generating one of the richest educational datasets.

Eedi is designed to scale great teaching, so that every child can build the skills and confidence they need in a rapidly changing world. Eedi is a scalable, cost-effective alternative to expensive tutoring and a helping hand to overworked teachers, our sustainable solution to the tuition crisis. Through our AI-driven math intervention program, we create learning pathways tailored to every child's individual needs.

Our adaptive AI can pinpoint exactly where your students have knowledge gaps, why, and resolve them with best-in-class pedagogy and a network of fully-qualified math teachers. Eedi has a 90% success rate, and our network of qualified math tutors are there to pick up the remaining knowledge gaps.

Eedi is designed to support the wonderful work teachers do in the classroom, saving them valuable time and workload, while helping students reach their full potential by identifying knowledge gaps in every math topic and resolving them fast and effectively.
