Overview

Based on the principles of ABA therapy, and adapted for the classroom, Language Builder: Academic Readiness Intervention System (ARIS) combines the trusted Language Builder Picture Card sets with 3D manipulatives, detailed lesson plans, reproducible activity sheets, a behavior management system, a system for data tracking, and custom home communication sheets for the most complete structured teaching curriculum available today for students with autism, cognitive disabilities or language delays.

Language Builder: ARIS includes everything you need for early autism and special needs education in one convenient kit:

- Scope & sequence with standards correlations and convenient wall posters
- Flexible lesson plans with progression and differentiation suggestions
- Thousands of photo stimulus materials
- Thousands of 3D manipulatives
- Blocks
- Reproducible activity sheets to support generalization
- Individualized Education Program (IEP) Goals
- Assessments
- Data tracking sheets
- Behavior management system and tools
- Detailed implementation guide
- Premium service model to support fidelity of implementation

With all these materials conveniently assembled in one place, educators receive the most organized and easy-to-implement early autism education system available. ARIS lets educators spend less time planning lessons and searching for materials and more time teaching!

ARIS is based upon best practices for working with students with autism. For the last two decades, researchers have chosen to use the Language Builder Picture Cards because they are designed specifically for the education of children with autism and other language delays and provide a consistent tool to assist researchers in fine-tuning recommended teaching tools. We have attached our research white paper which details these years of research using the Language Builder series.
