Overview

KeyWarden System Partners, LLP provides electronic key management systems that dispenses and tracks the use of keys. The order process can be sampled by logging into the www.keywarden.com website and selecting the "Configurator" box, which allows you to design a system matching your requirements. Please note that your organization is a TIPS-USA member. Our team will respond with a proposal based on the contract pricing, typically within the hour.

These systems are used in universities, detention facilities, by Fleet Managers, by Police Departments, and in other environments where a lot of hands touch a lot of keys. You will always know who checked out a key & when, whether the key has been returned & when, and have a record of all transactions. These systems are also used to control access to handguns, laptops, tablets, tasers or other high-value assets.

We are a Texas-based company and differ from other companies offering products such as this in that we can put feet on the street, showing up for on-site training and Support.

We have an extensive list of references available and will come to your location to discuss the implications and considerations of using this type of system in your organization's operations.
