Overview

Here at Arden Studio, we're combining innovation, meticulous attention to quality and a commitment to artful design. Our glass writing boards, mobile panels and screens are designed and engineered to enhance working, support learning and help create safer environments. The core Arden Studio team has over 50 years of collective experience developing writing boards and other visual communication products. By tapping into this collective well of knowledge — about product design, commercial interiors, manufacturing, engineering and material innovation — we've created critical communications and spatial solutions to suit everything from classrooms and cafes to healthcare settings and administrative offices. At Arden Studio we're evolving what's possible with the medium of glass.
