Past to Present

Our family business began with electronic home arrest and alcohol interlock devices. We have been in business since 1991 and incorporated since 2001. Our business evolved into the security area as a result of the contacts we made. Our customers needed security products such as metal detectors and cameras, so we've been in the security business ever since.

We have a talented staff of field technicians who handle custom installations from beginning to end. They also provide thorough training for the customer in the operation of the equipment at installation time. We make service calls in case of any problems and whenever possible, we make use of software to remotely solve issues at our customer's location. Our technicians can log into a customer's system from an off-site location to quickly and efficiently identify problems and resolve immediately or set up for service.
