ABOUT OUR FIRM

ARIES Building Systems, LLC is a limited liability company organized under the laws of the State of Texas. Its principal office is located at 12621 Featherwood Dr., Ste. 300, Houston, TX 77034.

THE ARIES ADVANTAGE!

Aries Building Systems is the commercial design, manufacture, transportation, construction and financing partner you need to make every project a success. Aries Building Systems specializes in supplying full turnkey education space, remote work force housing and commercial modular buildings to a wide range of industries and applications across the US and Canada.

OUR JOURNEY

Aries Building Systems is a privately-owned company whose senior management team has provided creative business intelligence and managed services to a wide range of clients for over twenty years. We specialize in full turnkey construction and financing with a track record of delivered success on some of the most demanding projects. This expertise provides both creative construction methodology and detailed logistics planning. Our team is led by nationally recognized hands-on executives with strong operational and financial backgrounds, creative strategists and pragmatic implementers. We understand that each project is a customer service based partnership that spans from initial introduction to successful operations over the years to come.

In late 2012 Aries acquired certain assets of Ameri-Tech Buildings (a 25+ Year Name Brand), an established provider of remote workforce housing and well site quarters, as well as a lease operator of domestic man camps. While retaining all of the best qualities of the Ameri-Tech brand, Aries immediately started and continues to implement a program of improving its educational products, existing camps, redesigning its product line and adding new products and services to the industries served. Additionally, Aries continues to add new products to its traditional commercial modular product line.

Although Aries Building Systems has worked with both large and small clients from many professions, a high proportion of our clients come from the educational, medical, oil & gas and government sectors. We believe that we are unique among other companies in both depths of knowledge and sound experience in these fields.

CORE COMPETENSE

ARIES has nationwide experience with construction management on all types of projects. Our team regularly manages multiple designs, contractors and vendors across multiple locations simultaneously as a daily operation of our business. We accomplish this with our staff of experienced professionals and have achieved tremendous success and superior customer satisfaction with our streamline approach.

As a course of daily practice, our team is constantly operating in a high-capacity/high-production atmosphere that requires a consistent form of procedures and policies. Our demand and training systems insure team discipline, adherence to established process, integrity and accountability as part of our daily routine. In this type of construction environment, a company's success is based on the talent of the team's execution to these outlines. Further success is constantly driven by our strategic and long-term partnerships who understand our process to success allowing us to deliver a constant safe and quality solution for our customers. With these long-term relationships and passion to continually improve, we have our team prepared for success today and ready for the changes of tomorrow.

Our construction solution is capable of delivering greater design and construction quality per unit of time and expense than many alternate construction providers. With the right team of experienced architects, engineers and builders, our construction method is the most resource efficient and quality controlled method of construction.

EXECUTION

ARIES's execution approach includes working as a team in collaboration with the architect and or the construction contractor to provide a high quality, technically sound design that will result in a successful construction project that will be a source of pride to all.

We believe there's nothing more important than consistent delivery of exceptional service, dependability and innovation. ARIES Building Systems promotes our philosophy of achieving together by learning from our clients, ensuring the development of mutually rewarding results and outcomes.

We offer an all-inclusive approach to every project by providing services including but not limited to:

- Design/Build Engineering
- In House Manufacturing
- In House Transportation Arm
- Construction Services & General Construction
- Civil engineering work
- Scheduling & Planning
- Quality Control
- Safety Management
- Production & Code Compliance
- Facility Management Services

At ARIES, we work closely with our clients throughout the entire construction process offering a comprehensive approach to each and every project. A member of our senior management team is involved in each project and an ARIES representative is directly accountable for all aspects of the project from design, scheduling and project management to quality control. We have found that this process allows us to manage our prefabricated building projects effectively and enables us to develop lasting relationships with our clients.

PROJECT APPROACH

Unique to modular construction, while modules are being assembled in a factory, site work is occurring at the same time or in some cases prior to construction. This can allow for much earlier building occupancy and contribute to a shorter overall construction period, reducing labor, financing and supervision costs. To save even more time and money, nearly all design and engineering disciplines are part of the manufacturing process.

Also unique to modular construction is the ability to simultaneously construct a building's floors, walls, ceilings, rafters, and roofs. During site-built construction, walls cannot be set until floors are in position, and ceilings and rafters cannot be added until walls are erected. On the other hand, with modular construction, walls, floors, ceilings, and rafters are all built at the same time, and then brought together in the same factory to form a building. This process can allow modular construction times of half that of conventional, stick-built construction.

COMMUNICATION

Communication and interaction within the whole team remains critical in the successful construction and timely completion of a project. The full and open communication established during the design phase addresses the many challenges that typically arise during construction. Our communication during construction speeds resolution of those challenges, allowing the Construction Team to focus more on the construction activities related to schedule, quality and coordination. To that end, the ARIES team will remain intact during the construction phases.

BEST PRACTICES

ARIES years of involvement in modular projects with various clients, partners and construction contractors has allowed us to develop best practices to ensure successful project delivery. These include:

- Participation of team members in professional organizations to stay current on development, design-build, general contracting, manufacturing, facility management and issues and methodologies, latest codes and standards, and innovations in our field.
- Developing long-term, multiple project relationships with construction contractors, designers, manufacturers and operators to create synergy and trust in executing our projects.
- Providing the best value technical solutions that meet the intent of the RFP/IFB while staying within budget and on schedule.
- Working together as a team to provide the owner a positive experience as well as a successful project.
- Utilizing the strengths of the individual TEAM members: the construction contractor providing constructability reviews and continual construction cost estimating during design, and the design team providing timely responses to questions during construction.
- Participating in review and observation during construction in a timely manner.
- Utilizing proven quality assurance procedures that include a design basis review, a discipline coordination review, an independent technical review, and constructability reviews throughout the design process with the construction contractor.

EXECUTION PHILOSOPHY

ARIES understands that our client is the prime contract holder, and that we must uphold the intent of the IFB within the proposed budget. We have had the most success when the Construction Team has been continuously and integrally involved with the Team right from the start. ARIES understands the importance of meeting design deadlines and resolving issues in a timely manner; i.e., we understand how one minor structural change can affect hours/days of changes in the mechanical/electrical designs. Our intent is to foster an integrated team focus and provide consistency by sharing knowledge and by continually evaluating project issues.

ARIES's experience shows that to ensure the success of the execution process, the team must be organized to maximize horizontal communications between all parties who have related roles and responsibilities. By communicating horizontally, time is saved and efficiency increased. Additionally, it is imperative that approvals and final direction move vertically, since these represent key, final decisions. Our intent is for the team to continually conduct comprehensive design and constructability reviews throughout the design process. The purpose of these reviews is to eliminate ambiguity, identify details that will not meet performance or quality objectives, and assist the team in monitoring construction costs. By eliminating ambiguity, we gain clarity ensuring the documents are constructible within budget, and fully maintain the intent of the RFP/IFB. These reviews also assist in coordinating the design among the various disciplines. ARIES continuously strives to improve through transparency in design and construction by building consensus between design and construction members of the Team, and when possible, by collaborating with subcontractors to gain valuable experience through knowledge sharing, thereby increasing the understanding amongst the entire Team. Through this type of continuous process improvement, our Team can execute the project with better submittals that are approved the first time and with fewer delays in the field.

ARIES Building Systems, LLC (ARIES) will be the contracting entity for the entire project and will contract for the turnkey engineering, procurement and construction (EPC) of the project with various parties. ARIES will assemble and maintain a staff of professional and construction personnel to monitor the various parties' performance and to ensure adherence to all contract specifications and requirements throughout the execution of the work.

EXPERIENCE WITH SUSTAINABILITY

Less Material Waste: Modular construction makes it possible to optimize construction materials purchases and usage while minimizing on-site waste and offering a higher quality product to the buyer. Bulk materials are delivered to the manufacturing facility where they are stored in a protected environment safe from theft and exposure to the environmental conditions of a job site.

Less Site Disturbance: Modular components are constructed off-site simultaneous to foundation and other site work, thereby reducing the time and impact on the surrounding site environment, as well as reducing the number of vehicles and equipment needed at the site.

Greater Flexibility and Reuse: When the needs change, modular components can be disassembled and the relocated or refurbished for their next use reducing the demand for raw materials and minimizing the amount of energy expended to create a building to meet the new need. In essence, the entire building can be recycled in some cases.

Improved Air Quality: Many of the indoor air quality issues identified in new construction result from high moisture levels in the framing materials. Because the modular structure is substantially completed in a factory-controlled setting using dry materials, the potential for high levels of moisture being trapped in the new construction is eliminated.

LEED: Modular buildings can also contribute to LEED requirements in any category site-built construction can, and can even provide an advantage in the areas of Sustainable Sites, Energy and Atmosphere, Materials and Resources, and Indoor Environmental Quality. Modular construction can also provide an advantage in similar categories in the International Green Construction Code.

SAFETY

ARIES is committed to establishing a safe work environment. This is only achieved through the individual and collective efforts of each and every member of our company. We certify that our performance on all construction projects, will be in compliance with OSHA requirements. HAZMAT information will be available at the jobsite. Tool-box meetings for all ARIES employees will be held weekly. All site supervisors will be safety trained, and all pertinent OSHA reporting will followed. A complete company safety manual will be provided upon request.

QUALITY ASSURANCE

Quality Controls and Implementation from Aries Buildings Systems means you will have professional review and assurance of factory built components and site construction through-out your project.

Combining traditional building techniques, quality manufacturing and third-party review and inspection agencies who offer random inspections, testing, and certification services for quality control, component modular buildings are built in strict accordance with appropriate local, state, and national regulations and codes. Due to the need to transport modules to the final site, each module must be built to independently withstand travel and installation requirements. Thus the final module-to-module assembly of independently durable components can yield a final product that is more durable than site-built structures.

Modular units may also be designed to fit in with external aesthetics of any existing building and modular units once assembled can be virtually indistinguishable from a site-built structure

EXPERIENCE WITH SECTION 3

ARIES is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and is strongly committed to all policies which will afford equal opportunity employment to all qualified persons without regard to age, ancestry, color, marital status (including civil union status), economic status (including Section 3 businesses and individuals), national origin, race, religious creed, sex, sexual orientation or disability, unless it is shown that such disability prevents performance of the work involved. This policy and practice applies to all persons, particularly those who are members of the protected classes identified as being Black, Hispanic and others such as Asian, Native American, etc., and Women, economically disadvantaged individuals and Persons with Disabilities.

Outreach efforts to meeting internal subcontracting goals are a requirement of this policy. The database of minority and economically disadvantaged subcontractors is updated regularly after review of state and federal sites to determine qualified minorities and/or Section 3 businesses. ARIES routinely invites vendors to complete our vendor application to become pre-approved for projects. Recruiting efforts for new employees include job postings indicating that ARIES is an EOE.

ARIES Building Systems will coordinate with local workforce solution centers located in assigned project areas to ensure that eligible persons from all racial ethnic and gender groups and section 3 businesses/residents:

- Feel welcome to apply
- Are aware of vacancies
- Have the opportunity receive benefits from these federal funding projects

ARIES pledges its commitment to this policy and each manager, supervisor and employee of this Company to aid in the implementation of this program and be accountable for complying with this policy.

About Us

Aries Building Systems is a privately owned company whose senior management team has provided creative business intelligence and managed services to a wide range of clients for over twenty years. We specialize in full turnkey camp construction and financing with a track record of delivered success on some of the most demanding projects. This expertise provides both creative construction methodology and detailed logistics planning. Our team is led by nationally recognized hands-on executives with strong operational and financial backgrounds, creative strategists and pragmatic implementers. We understand that each project is a customer service based partnership that spans from initial introduction to successful operations over the years to come.

In late 2012 Aries acquired certain assets of Ameri-Tech Buildings, an established provider of remote workforce housing and well site quarters, as well as a lease operator of domestic man camps. While retaining all of the best qualities of the Ameri-Tech brand, Aries immediately started and continues to implement a program of improving its existing camps, redesigning its product line and adding new products and services to the industries served. Additionally Aries continues to add new products to its traditional commercial modular product line.

Although Aries Building Systems has worked with both large and small clients from many professions, a high proportion of our clients come from the oil and gas, educational, medical and government sectors. We believe that we are unique among other companies in both depth of knowledge and sound experience in these fields.

Our Uniqueness

Aries Building Systems specializes in supplying full turnkey man camps, remote work force housing and commercial modular buildings to a wide range of industries and applications across the US and Canada. From start to finish Aries can design, engineer, deliver, install and operate facilities from just a few beds to several hundred beds or from several hundred square feet to multiple story complexes in excess of 50,000sf. Our customers enjoy the uniqueness in our ability to offer a single source contact and contract for all services necessary to ensure every expectation is met or exceeded. With a seasoned team of modular building experts, Aries brings ideas and applications from many industries to every new project and delivers consistent results.

Our ALTERNATIVE CONSTRUCTION METHODS allow us to complete the civil work at the same time we are manufacturing the modules in plant thus allowing for an accelerated delivery schedule. We can provide “green” buildings that comply with most IGCC regulations. All units are built to comply with IBC structural requirements and are state sealed when required.

Along with turnkey project completion Aries also offers a wide range of purchase and lease options. This in-house financing is secured well before your building is delivered and is just one less thing you need to worry about. From direct sales to operating lease or per bed rentals we will work with you to create a financing package that fits within almost any budget. Aries provides everything you need from A to Z making sure you receive what you want in even the most remote and challenging environments.

Modular Construction

A process that constructs a building off site, under controlled plant conditions, using the same material and designed to the same codes and standards as conventionally built facilities but in about half the time.

Buildings are constructed in “modules” that when assembled/installed on site, reflect the identical design intent and specifications of the most sophisticated traditionally built facility – without compromise.

Structurally, modular buildings are generally stronger than conventional construction because each module is engineered to independently withstand the rigors of transportation and craning onto foundations. Once together and sealed, the modules become one integrated wall, floor and roof assembly.

Modular Construction

Modular Construction is a delivery method utilizing offsite, lean manufacturing techniques to prefabricate single or multi-story whole building solutions in deliverable module sections. Modular components are manufactured in a controlled setting and can be constructed of wood, steel, or concrete. Modular components can be integrated into site built projects or stand alone as a turn-key solution and can be delivered with MEP, fixtures and interior finishes.

The buildings are 60% to 90% completed offsite in a factory-controlled environment, and transported and assembled at the final building site. This can comprise the entire building or be components or subassemblies of larger structures. In many cases, modular contractors work with traditional general contractors to leverage the resources and advantages of each type of construction.

Modular components are built to meet or exceed the same building codes and standards as site-built structures and the same architect-specified materials used in conventionally constructed buildings are used in modular construction projects. Modular construction can have as many stories as building codes allow.

Process Benefits

- Accelerated Construction Process

- Unique to modular construction, while modules are being assembled in a factory, site work is occurring at the same time or in some cases prior to construction. This can allow for much earlier building occupancy and contribute to a shorter overall construction period, reducing labor, financing and supervision costs. To save even more time and money, nearly all design and engineering disciplines are part of the manufacturing process.
- Also unique to modular construction is the ability to simultaneously construct a building's floors, walls, ceilings, rafters, and roofs. During site-built construction, walls cannot be set until floors are in position, and ceilings and rafters cannot be added until walls are erected. On the other hand, with modular construction, walls, floors, ceilings, and rafters are all built at the same time, and then brought together in the same factory to form a building. This process can allow modular construction times of half that of conventional, stick-built construction.

Quality Construction

Quality Controls and Implementation from Aries Buildings Systems means you will have professional review and assurance of factory built components and site construction through-out your project.

Combining traditional building techniques, quality manufacturing and third-party review and inspection agencies who offer random inspections, testing, and certification services for quality control, component modular buildings are built in strict accordance with appropriate local, state, and national regulations and codes. Due to the need to transport modules to the final site, each module must be built to independently withstand travel and installation requirements. Thus the final module-to-module assembly of independently durable components can yield a final product that is more durable than site-built structures.

Modular units may also be designed to fit in with external aesthetics of any existing building and modular units once assembled can be virtually indistinguishable from a site-built structure.

Sustainability

Less Material Waste - Modular construction makes it possible to optimize construction materials purchases and usage while minimizing on-site waste and offering a higher quality product to the buyer. Bulk materials are delivered to the manufacturing facility where they are stored in a protected environment safe from theft and exposure to the environmental conditions of a job site.

Less Site Disturbance - Modular components are constructed off-site simultaneous to foundation and other site work, thereby reducing the time and impact on the surrounding site environment, as well as reducing the number of vehicles and equipment needed at the site.

Greater Flexibility and Reuse - When the needs change, modular components can be disassembled and the relocated or refurbished for their next use reducing the demand for raw materials and minimizing the amount of energy expended to create a building to meet the new need. In essence, the entire building can be recycled in some cases.

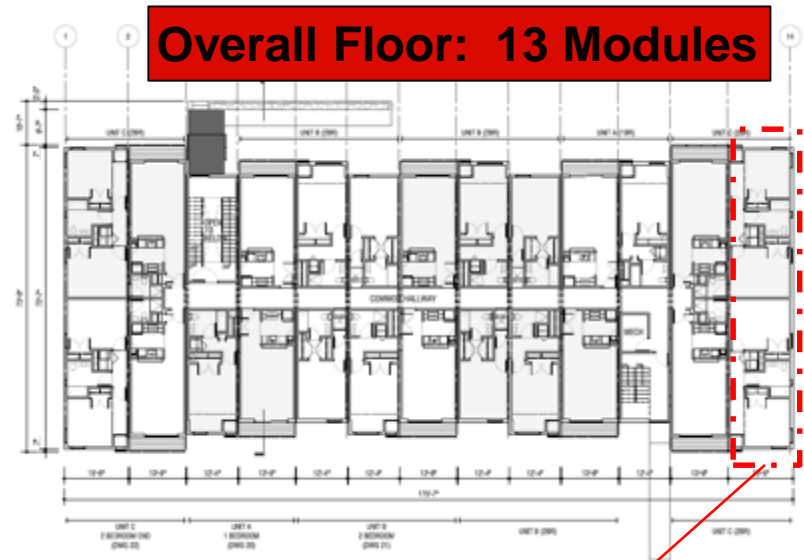

Improved Air Quality - Many of the indoor air quality issues identified in new construction result from high moisture levels in the framing materials. Because the modular structure is substantially completed in a factory-controlled setting using dry materials, the potential for high levels of moisture being trapped in the new construction is eliminated.

LEED - Modular buildings can also contribute to LEED requirements in any category site-built construction can, and can even provide an advantage in the areas of Sustainable Sites, Energy and Atmosphere, Materials and Resources, and Indoor Environmental Quality. Modular construction can also provide an advantage in similar categories in the International Green Construction Code.

The Module Component

- Components can be factory constructed up to an individual module size of 1200 square feet utilizing wood, steel and concrete.
- All components are fully engineered and compliant with applicable codes. The designs are versatile and accurate to allow variance design aspects through while insuring connect ability between components upon installation.

Individual: 1 Modules

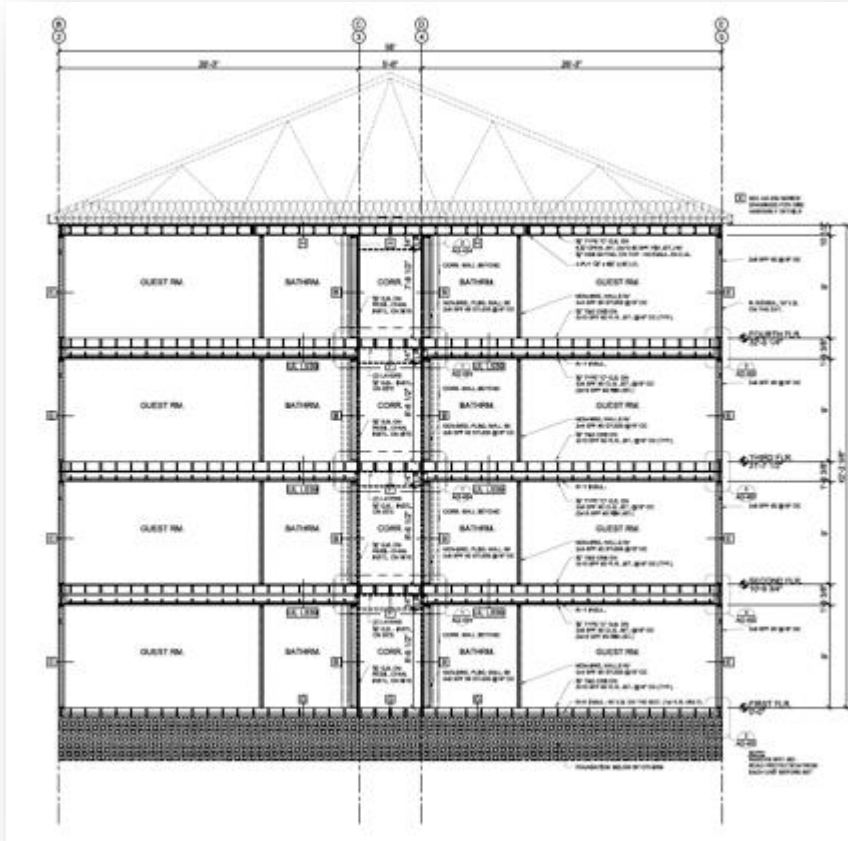

Lateral Connections

Components are installed side-by-side on foundations with built-in corridors for utility manifolds. All rooms are completely finished inside and site work is isolated to corridors and exteriors.

Vertical Connections

- The components are stacked on site with a crane while following proper fastening schedules and designs.
- Vertical design can include traditional factory finished roof and exteriors sidings.
- Alternately, a vast variety of exterior facets including brick and stucco, elaborate roof systems with high roof pitches, standing seam steel and so on are achievable.
