Texas Education Code Chapter 22 Contractor Certification for Contractor Employees

84 Texas Education Code Chapter 22 Contractor Certification for Contractor Employees

Introduction: Texas Education Code Chapter 22 requires entities that contract with school districts to provide services to obtain criminal history record information regarding covered employees. Contractors must certify to the district that they have complied. Covered employees with disqualifying criminal histories are prohibited from serving at a school district.

Definitions: Covered employees: Employees of a contractor or subcontractor who have or will have continuing duties related to the service to be performed at the District and have or will have direct contact with students. The District will be the final arbiter of what constitutes direct contact with students. Disqualifying criminal history: Any conviction or other criminal history information designated by the District, or one of the following offenses, if at the time of the offense, the victim was under 18 or enrolled in a public school:
(a) a felony offense under Title 5, Texas Penal Code; (b) an offense for which a defendant is required to register as a sex offender under Chapter 62, Texas Code of Criminal Procedure; or (c) an equivalent offense under federal law or the laws of another state.

I certify that:
NONE (Section A) of the employees of Contractor and any subcontractors are covered employees, as defined above. If this box is checked, I further certify that Contractor has taken precautions or imposed conditions to ensure that the employees of Contractor and any subcontractor will not become covered employees. Contractor will maintain these precautions or conditions throughout the time the contracted services are provided.

OR
SOME (Section B) or all of the employees of Contractor and any subcontractor are covered employees. If this box is checked, I further certify that:
(1) Contractor has obtained all required criminal history record information regarding its covered employees. None of the covered employees has a disqualifying criminal history.
(2) If Contractor receives information that a covered employee subsequently has a reported criminal history, Contractor will immediately remove the covered employee from contract duties and notify the District in writing within 3 business days.
(3) Upon request, Contractor will provide the District with the name and any other requested information of covered employees so that the District may obtain criminal history record information on the covered employees.
(4) If the District objects to the assignment of a covered employee on the basis of the covered employee's criminal history record information, Contractor agrees to discontinue using that covered employee to provide services at the District.

Noncompliance or misrepresentation regarding this certification may be grounds for contract termination.

85 Texas Business and Commerce Code § 272 Requirements as of 9-1-2017

SB 807 prohibits construction contracts to have provisions requiring the contract to be subject to the laws of another state, to be required to litigate the contract in another state, or to require arbitration in another state. A contract with such provisions is voidable. Under this new statute, a "construction contract" includes contracts, subcontracts, or agreements with (among others) architects, engineers, contractors, construction managers, equipment lessors, or materials suppliers. "Construction contracts" are for the design, construction, alteration, renovation, remodeling, or repair of any building or improvement to real property, or for furnishing materials or equipment for the project. The term also includes moving, demolition, or excavation. BY RESPONDING TO THIS SOLICITATION, AND WHEN APPLICABLE, THE PROPOSER AGREES TO COMPLY WITH THE TEXAS BUSINESS AND COMMERCE CODE § 272 WHEN EXECUTING CONTRACTS WITH TIPS MEMBERS THAT ARE TEXAS GOVERNMENT ENTITIES.

Power and UPS Systems

Short for uninterruptible power supply, a power supply that includes a battery to maintain power in the event of a power outage. Typically, a UPS keeps a computer running for several minutes after a power outage, enabling you to save data that is in RAM and shut down the computer gracefully. Many UPSs now offer a software component that enables you to automate backup and shut down procedures in case there's a power failure while you're away from the computer.

There are two basic types of UPS systems: standby power systems (SPSs) and on-line UPS systems. An SPS monitors the power line and switches to battery power as soon as it detects a problem. The switch to battery, however, can require several milliseconds, during which time the computer is not receiving any power. Standby Power Systems are sometimes called Line-interactive UPSes.

An on-line UPS avoids these momentary power lapses by constantly providing power from its own inverter, even when the power line is functioning properly. In general, on-line UPSs are much more expensive than SPSs.

We sell and install UPS systems of all sizes to protect everything from individual workstations to network switches. We proudly feature APC, Liebert and other brand name products.

All of our products and services have been carefully selected to serve the needs of our clients.

There is no job too small or too big for us . Call us now!

What is assistive technology and how is it used in schools?

Every day students with physical, sensory or cognitive disabilities face barriers to learning. Students with motor disabilities may not be able to hold a pencil to write answers on a test, or a compass to do a math lesson. Students with learning disabilities may not be able to decode words in printed text. A student with poor vision might use enlarged text. A student with motor difficulties might use an enlarged, simplified computer keyboard. A non-verbal student can be the “caller” for a game of “Red Light/Green Light” by using a talking switch. A student who can comprehend history at the 6th grade level, but can read only at the 3rd grade level, might read a textbook with the help of a computer that scans and reads text. The flexibility of assistive technology allows a teacher to build tools and materials that address students’ strengths as well as their weaknesses.

Valuable Role of Assistive Technology in Students life

For students with disabilities that interfere with their communication, learning, social relationships or active participation, assistive technology supports their participation in learning experiences in the least restrictive environment. Assistive technology can be the lifeline that increases a student’s opportunities for education, social interactions, and meaningful employment.

Now Rather than being perceived as just a rehabilitative or remedial tool, assistive technology is reflected in the student’s Individual Education Plan (IEP) as a method for general curriculum access. It is not only specified for a student’s special education services, but the IEP must include information about a student's current abilities and how his or her disability affects involvement and progress in the general curriculum.

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act require schools to provide assistive technology for students with disabilities, if it is needed to assure equal access or remove barriers to programs and services.

As your Premier Partner, in the acquisition of computers, software, and adaptive equipment, US Computers, Inc., continues providing unique products and services to help disabled community.

We know that you as a buyer are constantly having to decide on issues such as:

- AT must be determined on a case-by-case basis; it is required if needed to ensure access to Free and Appropriate Public Education (FAPE).
- AT must be provided by the school district at no cost to the family.
- If the IEP (Individualized Education Program) team determines that AT is needed for home use to ensure FAPE, it must be provided
- The use of AT equipment for non-educational purposes because students may need the same technologies or different technologies to participate in after school athletic programs, recreation or family activities.

Importance of Assistive Technology for Schools and TurnKey Solutions

ASSISTIVE TECHNOLOGY HELPS KIDS LEARN

Students Served by Special Education Programs

According to the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), more than six million school-aged children (3-17) currently receive special education services. The National Education Association reports that, as of 2004, nearly every general education classroom across the country includes students with physical and/or learning disabilities. Because of exciting new technologies, many of those students now are able to work right beside their classmates

21st Century Teaching

The classroom of today finds both general and special education students taking tests using computers instead of the traditional paper method. Many accessibility features can be built into computer-based testing;

Assistive Technology by Numbers

According to the most recent data, 55 to 64 percent of schools nationwide that had students with disabilities provided assistive or adaptive hardware, and 39 to 56 percent provided assistive or adaptive software.

About one-third of public schools reported that there were too few computers with alternative input/output devices for students with disabilities, and insufficient evaluation and support services to meet the special technology needs of students with disabilities.

Changing The Face of K-12 Education and beyond

As well as changing the face of K-12 education, Assistive technology also is changing postsecondary school and our workforce. AT is aiding young students in learning about traditional subject matter, but learning how to use the assistive technology and making such advanced technology availability in an easier turn key solution in itself is a very important task for today's expert supplier.

VARIOUS TYPES OF DISABILITIES CAN BE OVERCOME BY ASSISTIVE TECHNOLOGY?

Solutions for Vision Disability: Assistive Technology can aid students who are blind or have low vision.

Assistive Technology for Communication: A huge line of products available for students with communication Disability.

Assistive Technology for Access: Many devices aid students who have difficulties in accessing communication, learning tools or engaging in classrooms.

Hearing Impairment: Huge number of unique assistive technology is available for students who are deaf or hard-of-hearing.

Assistive Technology for Learning and Studying: Unique products can aid students with high-incidence disabilities (learning, behavior, or cognitive disabilities) to increase, maintain, or improve their functional capabilities.

US COMPUTERS, INC., PROVIDES A TOTAL END-TO-END SOLUTIONS.

- The "fix-it" approach taken with traditional assistive technology applications should not be the main goal in finding appropriate assistive technology for students. Instructional issues are at the heart of the challenge, requiring educators to start with the curriculum and then ask how tools might assist students in achieving the outcomes.
- When considering assistive technology in any situation, the focus should be on what the device or the package does for a person and how complete it is and how easy it is to acquire as a package and to be used by the student, not on the device or technology itself

Acquisition of Assistive Technology, or "How do I Get What I Need?"—US Computers provide a complete range of assistive technology in various packages. Each system in custom built focused on many unique benefits the device provides to the user along with various features.

US Computers has been providing customized Computer packages equipped with various assistive technology for last 15 years, let us provide you a unique and custom solution for your school's needs. We can provide packages in Bulk as well as one unique solution at a time.

How Tablets are changing the workplace

Library e-books and families

The 2010 Kids and Family Reading Report, commissioned by Scholastic Inc., shows that around six out of 10 students between ages 9 and 17 say they're interested in reading on an electronic device such as the Kindle or the iPad.

Libraries are tweeting, texting and launching smart-phone apps as they try to keep up with the biblio-techs — a computer-savvy class of people who consider card catalogs as vintage as typewriters.

A growing number of libraries are launching mobile websites and smart-phone applications, says Jason Griffey, author of "Mobile Technology and Libraries."

Could Indiana Jones have used an Tablet PC?

You bet. If the bad guys stole his 3G Tablet PC, Dr. Jones would've been able to track them and it down with the Find iPhone app.

The Tablet acts as a great companion, it not only help you in work, lets you take pictures in the field, as well as to surf internet, locate, navigate, type, read, communicate and much, much more
