Richey Athletic's 12+1 (13) Year Guarantee [Landing Systems]

Our warranty guarantees the materials and workmanship of our equipment (weather covers not included in 13 year guarantee) to be free from defect for thirteen (13) full seasons of competition. We resolve ANY issues within this time frame that arise as a result of a failure of either of these two inputs.

This Guarantee covers defect as a result of regular wear during athletic competition, acknowledging a level of normal "wear and tear" associated with outdoor athletic equipment. Instances of "normal wear and tear" are defined at the sole discretion of Richey Athletics, limiting repairs to issues that would impede the use of equipment beyond the limits of safety during the period of warranty.

Damage incurred due to rodents, weather, mishandling, or misuse (whose definition is the sole discretion of Richey Athletics), is not covered under this warranty. This guarantee does not protect against injury, or any injury incurred during competition which results from damaged equipment. This guarantee does not extend to a landing system weather cover as it is a means of validation to our warranty. The weather cover is covered by a 5 year guarantee with the same stipulations mentioned above, only differing in the length of guarantee.

What's in the Richey 13 year guarantee?

Why 13?

We've tested our materials, design and service against our competitors. Some of our competitors only guarantee their equipment for 5 years. Some carry no guarantee. We know our materials are more durable, the specifications of the raw materials have higher tested specifications, and our hand-delivery guarantees that when it shows up, none of these have been negatively affected by our shipping practice. Therefore, we've decided to extend our warranty to one year beyond the industry maximum, ensuring that your program can call us if something bad does happen.

What does this include? Basically your whole pit. Your base sections, the foam in your base sections, your standards, your top pad, your top pad foam, the base pads around your standards, and every individual piece to these sections: zippers, handles, stitching, Velcro, etc.

What does this NOT include? Your weather cover. Improper use/mishandling. Weather covers carry a 5 year guarantee, because we must guarantee them the same whether they're being used 365 days/year in southern Texas or being used for 3 months/year in northern Minnesota, etc.

Wording to our guarantee:

“Our warranty guarantees the materials and workmanship of our equipment to be free from defect for thirteen (13) full seasons of competition. We resolve ANY issues within this time frame that arise as a result of a failure of either of these two inputs.

This Guarantee covers defect as a result of regular wear during athletic competition, acknowledging a level of normal "wear and tear" associated with outdoor athletic equipment. Instances of "normal wear and tear" are defined at the sole discretion of Richey Athletics, limiting repairs to issues that would impede the use of equipment beyond the limits of safety during the period of warranty.

Damage incurred due to weather, mishandling, or misuse (whose definition is the sole discretion of Richey Athletics), is not covered under this warranty. This guarantee does not protect against injury, or any injury incurred during competition which results from damaged equipment. This guarantee does not extend to a landing system weather cover as it is a means of validation to our warranty.”

Our new wording compared to previous wording (10 year warranty) includes everything and more by comparison, because we know that our equipment WILL hold up beyond what was expected in the past. We previously and continue to make TRUE UPGRADES (not just cost-saving, bottom-line shortcuts) in materials, design, construction etc without increasing our warranty, so recently we adjusted our warranty to resemble these upgrades, and this WILL BE RETROACTIVE on any landing system with RICHEY written on the side of it!

13 years, guaranteed. And we tend to error on the “in the schools' favor” if there is any type of discrepancy on a warranty claim. As a family-owned (most members competing in track throughout college) track equipment manufacturer, our aim is that you feel secure with your purchase from Richey. We completely stand behind every piece of equipment that we make. There is no “fine print” or warranties that differ between parts/pieces on individual sections/equipment.

13 years, guaranteed; it's all encompassing, inclusive, and industry-leading. That's the Richey difference!

Frequently Asked Questions on next page...

FAQ:

Why are weather covers not included in your warranty?

The weather cover has an expected lifetime of 12-14 seasons. Typically, red lasts about 8 seasons, so we've stopped offering it as an option unless a school absolutely MUST have red. For non-red weather covers, the weather cover actually validates the guarantee on the underlying equipment, meaning, if it's used, then the guarantee is valid. All things equal, two schools side-by-side that might do everything the same, but one leaves their equipment out all year round. THE ONLY DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE TWO SCHOOLS will be the weather cover. One weather cover will probably last 9-12 years and the other will probably last 14-16 years, depending of course on the UV exposure/intensity. Leaving equipment outside year-round will negatively affect how long a weather cover will last, but using a weather cover as suggested will allow your landing system to last 15-20 years (yes, we expect equipment to last beyond our warranty).

What is meant by "improper use" or "mishandling?"

We've seen everything in this category...jumping off multiple story roofs, stacking full flights of hurdles on a landing pit section, using a landing pit section as a backstop for baseball practice. Proper use is described in the instruction manual that comes with your landing system. Anything that is not pole vaulting or high jumping or required when moving between storage and usage area is improper use. Storage in such a way that leaves compression on the foam the entire out-of-season schedule is considered "mishandling." Dragging landing pit sections with a tractor is considered "mishandling." Weed-eating into the side of a pit section is considered mishandling...this list is unending, so we leave it at our discretion.

What will Richey do that no other company will do?

On-site service. Once you've partnered with Richey, you're a partner for life. IF SOMETHING BAD HAPPENS, we will work with you for a solution. We have been able to keep programs vaulting by doing on-site repairs. We've sent patch kits and worked with schools on an individual basis when the lawnmower removed an entire corner of a pole vault pit. We've coordinated stops by at schools that are currently Richey partners when delivering new equipment to new Richey partners so that we have an expert taking care of the fix, all to help keep programs operating safely and cost-effectively, and to strengthen the relationship between the track program and your pit supplier. We want you vaulting and jumping, and if there's something we can do to keep you doing that on a Richey landing system, then we will!
