Overview

EiE is the award-winning curricula division of the Museum of Science, Boston. We provide hands-on PreK-8 engineering and computer science supplemental curriculum programs and professional development. Our mission is to create a generation of problem solvers. We design STEM learning experiences that inspire lifelong learners. We encourage all children, including those from underrepresented and underserved groups, to envision themselves as STEM practitioners—scientists, mathematicians, engineers, computer scientists, and so much more. Our learning resources are innovative, flexible, standards-aligned, and designed to meet the diverse needs of elementary students.
