Overview

R-Zero is a building optimization platform that uses data to optimize the performance of your spaces and systems so they are more efficient, healthy, & sustainable, without retrofits. We collect and synthesize your building data to improve workforce productivity, space utilization, and energy efficiency. We model risk from your air quality, environmental health, & occupancy data and where risk is high, offer products to clean air using UV technology. We reduce chemical usage and shrink the carbon footprint of your buildings to achieve your sustainability goals. Our platform is easy to use, & affordable, enabling you to deploy at scale. Health systems, the public sector, sports teams, commercial real estate, and schools use us to protect and help teams achieve peak performance.
