Overview

imaginX LLC ("iX") is a wholly owned subsidiary of Kastech Software Solutions Group, a Houston TX based IT Services Company with a strong higher education presence. Kastech started focussing on AR/VR/XR solutions around 2015 and implemented a state-of-the-art Virtual Reality Lab at our headquarters (Houston, Texas) that has been used as a training center for education and corporate training. Proposed solutions and services:

? Provide all software and applications required to deliver top notch XR experience.

? Create course content that will help faculty (trainers) teach students/employees/interns in augmented and virtual reality environment.

? Convert single dimensional training content into interactive virtual content.

? Integrate XR solutions with existing Learning Management System(s) for a centralized content management, secure access, analytics, and much more.

? Provide necessary training to end users including staff, content developers, and members of faculty.

? Provide expert guidance of the best talent in each market segment to align with each project.

? Our technology allows all AR/VR content to be deployed seamlessly across all devices and can be ported for use on all Head mounted devices and physical iX branded VR Cube.

? We provide AR & VR as-a-Service so that we can partner with Institutions to assist them create lessons plans and teaching techniques to include these courses to supplement teaching.

? Provide end-to-end implementation and support & maintenance services for all our proposed VR/AR simulations.

? Optional: Install and set-up the Augmented & Virtual Reality (or you may say 'Interactive XR lab').
