Overview

Since 1983, Wendel Construction, Inc. has been providing professional construction management services to both public and private clients, with a focus on local government, public safety, higher education, healthcare, public transportation, and industrial/commercial market sectors. Wendel Construction, Inc. specializes in providing an “umbrella” of construction management delivery methods depending on our clients’ needs, requirements, and procurement constraints. Our projects are led by professionals with an ethical obligation to our clients and the public using our Master Builder™ approach where our firm leads all phases of project design, procurement, and construction. Our team of industry professionals serves our clients as their trusted advisors using a proactive, collaborative team approach where we drive the project’s schedule and maintain the project’s overall budget, which gives our clients a more satisfied sense of control and better project results for them and their stakeholders.
