Overview

The Sensory Path is a decal system that is designed to transform a school space into a child friendly, thematic, and safe area for movement which provides appropriate proprioceptive and vestibular sensory input to help decrease sensory seeking behaviors and increase cognitive function. We consulted with Occupational Therapist, Physical Therapist, Orthopedic Physicians, Pediatricians, Educational Psychologists, Autism Doctoral Fellows, BCBA Therapists, Speech Language Therapists, and Autism researchers to determine how to provide proper proprioceptive and vestibular sensory input through a series of movements that are designed to target key areas of the sensory nervous system. Using these specific moves, The Sensory Path helps the child's body realign the sensory signal pathways that have become misaligned due to external environmental sensory stimuli.
